

Professor Raul Figueiro

University of Minho - School of Engineering, Guimaraes, Portugal

Raul Figueiro is professor and researcher at University of Minho - School of Engineering, since 1992. He is leading the Fibrous Materials Research Group composed by about 30 researchers and acting in the field of fibrous and composite materials. He has published more than 100 original papers in scientific journals, 12 books and presented more than 250 original research works in international scientific conferences. He is holding 12 patents and is coordinating several research projects, mostly funded directly by companies. He is expert of the European Textile Platform.